GROWING up, we've all heard grim stories from our grandparents about the various epidemic outbreaks that rocked their world back in the day. Who would've thought that we'd be creating history with one of our own? I remember hearing her tales and thinking to myself that it could never happen to us.

Covid happened, and in all its miniscule glory, it has managed to rock our world pretty violently. With our it-can't-happen-to-me attitude, we were all caught unaware and unprepared. Clearly, this isn't only about the medical emergency. It's about the way we live. And all of us will need to initiate drastic changes in our lives. Air, water, earth, alongside food, clothing and shelter are back on our conscious radars.

It's interesting how the best of us have drawn our own conspiracy theories, worked out various coping mechanisms and have almost come to terms with what we have decided is 'the new normal'. I beg to disagree though. Far from being normal, what we're going through right now, albeit an important part of our evolution, is a probation. We're all in transit, waiting to board the elevator to a higher plane of existence, where 'the new normal' will unfold. And that's the part I'm excited about.

I'm looking forward to a careful, thoughtful and mindful humankind. I'm also looking forward to a completely new and evolved landscape where design is concerned. I know that most of you within the fraternity are making the most of this incredible pause in your crazy schedules. What lies ahead is uncharted – and maybe slightly freaky too – but the remarkable part is that we're all looking forward to navigating the unknown as a conscious collective. There's great opportunity there, especially for the home and design industry, bringing with it great responsibility as well.

I sign off this D/code Special with great expectation. The future of design is looking good!

FOR the world, life right now, is chronologically divided into Before Covid and After Covid. As for us it is Before D/code and After D/code. D/code 2020 was perhaps the last sane thing that happened in our lives. It happened in a world where we could go out, and accomplish great things. The world has changed since then.

It seems almost serendipitous, that just before the pandemic forced us indoors, the entire design community congregated under one roof. This issue, we bring you detailed coverage of D/code 2020. We also raise a toast to all the winners of Trends Excellence Awards.

Meanwhile, I believe social distancing has brought the world a lot closer, especially the design community. Conversations, collaborations, discussions, interactions...we are buzzing. There's a constant exchange of ideas, and we can't wait to get back to normalcy.

Until then, tune in to our social media handles for a series of engaging conversations with our Editor In Chief Ronitaa Italia and the stalwarts of the design fraternity. We'll soon be launching Design Discoveries – a digital platform for young and upcoming designers, architects and artists, and #ItsUpToUs – here we bring you some of the most thoughtful insights from the frontrunners of the industry.

On that note... Stay Home. Stay Safe.

D/CODE 2020 WITH CURATORS ZZ ARCHITECTS

TO let discovery be on everyone's mind, it was important that we used this amazing platform to share and learn. 'Sharing' some of the choicest resources that are available to our fraternity and industry, and 'Learning' from all the wonderful architects and interior designers who were part of some amazing talks and sessions throughout the event.

We embarked on our second year as D/code curators with great excitement and anticipation. We had so many plans, so much to look forward to and so many ideas to see through to fruition. At the end of it all, we wanted that weekend in March 2020 to become one of the most memorable, explorative and immersive experiences for the industry.

D/code 2019 made it glaringly clear to us that there is no dearth of talent in design in India. Even after spending almost two decades in the industry, we're learning new things every day. And that's precisely what we wanted to celebrate at D/code 2020. We strived to bring art, products, technology, and decor accessories into the fold like never before, and create a journey for guests to help them envision their entire space on one platform.

In our attempt to inspire, share knowledge, and curate Indian and international innovators, we were joined by the entire community; architects, designers, artists, brands and gallerists banded together as one successful design unit. It has been our humble attempt to make D/code the 'Design Discovery Event' that the city of Mumbai looks forward to every year.

THE COVER

After the overwhelming response, we returned to our daily schedules, just reminiscing in the joy and success of the event. The team began working on a special D/code issue, and Ronitaa requested us to sketch something for the cover. After a few tangential attempts that seemed too conceptual, and an inspiring conversation with Ronitaa, I decided to use my newly learnt iPad skills to create a piece that represents our core ideology since the initiation of our practice. This is true to how we feel design needs to be experienced and has now also become the essence of our association with D/code 2020.

I loved creating this one.

ARCHITECTS KRUPA ZUBIN AND ZUBIN ZAINUDDIN OF ZZ ARCHITECTS

A multi award-winning studio, ZZ Architects is considered among the top 10 architectural and interior design firms of India. Known for their innovative approach to design and planning, the practice is spearheaded by principal architects Krupa Zubin and Zubin Zainuddin and aims at transforming every site into a stimulating environment.

Fuelled by innovation, Krupa and Zubin's boundary-pushing architectural projects have been transforming the country's cityscape for over a decade now. The power couple is in constant pursuit of flawless aesthetics that encompass all fields of design and architecture. They are continually pushing the boundaries with their passion and drive for well-curated products and spaces. Krupa and Zubin are constantly reinventing and revisiting the way we view luxury design.

ZZ Architects has pioneered a narrative that revels in the understated nature of all things luxe. Words like 'luxury', 'scale' and 'bespoke' fall naturally into their design vocabulary, and they accomplish it with great elan. When it comes to designing residences and commercial spaces, nothing is impossible.

Talking about what most excites them about D/code 2020, Krupa says, "It is an opportunity to learn and share. For us, that is what D/code is all about." Their singular aim is to create an interactive hub that represents contemporary thinkers. As Zubin says, "Evaluating and bringing together a unique mix of some of the leading Indian and international brands, is truly inspirational."

"We are inspired by everything around us. It is the urge to constantly learn and evolve that keeps us going," they say. As curators of the third edition of India's first curated luxury living show, they bring together the full spectrum of craft, discipline and specialties pertaining to architecture, art, luxury and technology.

Their curatorial note coaxes the patrons of D/code 2020 to 'look within. "Some of the best brands and practices already exist amongst us. Zubin and I just want to explore it all and bring together meritorious brands and talent on a single platform, making it an event of learning and exploration," says Krupa.

THE CURATORS

THE SOUK OF EMOTIONS BY DESIGNER SHANTANU GARG

The undisputed young champion of modern Indian design, Shantanu Garg is a dynamic interior designer and architect. His design practice, Shantanu Garg Design, advocates transforming design into concepts that are idiosyncratic, turning them into compositions derived largely from customisation. With the quest to create spaces that are an amalgamation of international design aesthetics and functionality whilst catering to the native demands, research forms an imperative part of the design process at Shantanu Garg Design. He has designed nearly 85 projects in varied spheres, such as high-rise apartments, retail spaces, corporate and commercial spaces, hospitals, offices, hotels and more, for almost a decade.

This year at D/code, Shantanu curated The Souk of Emotions - a journey that expressed the emotions of objects and their attributes through typography, graphical annotation and moods.

VIP LOUNGE BY ARCHITECT SUMESSH MENON

Mumbai-based architect and interior designer Sumesh Menon has been at the forefront of high-end hospitality design for over a decade now, taking raw spaces and transforming them into an experience for patrons. His projects include the Asian-inspired Foo and Koko, the soulful and fresh Candy & Green, the progressive Trilogy SuperClub and the French-inspired Mustard in Mumbai. His appreciation for world cuisines, in combination with an astute understanding of interior designing, makes his designs relatable and luxurious. This year, he designed the VIP Lounge at D/code giving it a fluid, organic anchor.

The crowning jewel at D/code 2020 - the VIP Lounge by Sumesh Menon was a pavilion sheltered by a metal mesh. The 2,000 sq ft fluid form hung suspended from the ceiling by metal ropes and created a glistening cover for the lounge, which was the venue for networking events, VIP lunches, high teas and formal gatherings. As envisaged by Menon, this floating 'metal fabric' pavilion was entirely fashioned out of steel sheets with a parametric perforation design, achieved by laser cutting. The design is an ode to the creativity that comes from daringly exploring the flexibility of new-age materials to develop innovative concepts and ideas. The pavilion was executed by Folds Design Studio.

THE PLEASURES OF INDIAN FOOD

Chef and author Pallavi Nigam Sahay is charting an explored path in Indian regional cooking with her culinary conquests

Text TINA THAKRAR

The many facets of Pallavi Nigam Sahay – celebrity chef, author, food consultant, TV and YouTube host – all ‘boil down’ to her love for regional Indian flavours. A food lover for as far back as she can remember, Pallavi has built a reputation as a modern Indian chef dedicated to bringing local Indian cuisines into the spotlight.

A graduate of the International School of Italian Cuisine, Italy, with professional experience at Cellini at Grand Hyatt Mumbai, Pallavi garnered nationwide acclaim in 2017, with her book entitled The Bhojpuri Kitchen. The award-winning tome has some simple yet delicious recipes from the home kitchens of Bihar.

Pallavi is also a prominent media personality and host of TV shows like Amma Superstar on Living Foodz TV channel, and web shows like Working Women’s Kitchen on Sanjeev Kapoor’s Khazana YouTube channel, Vrat ka Khana, Kissan Tiffin Time Table, Knorr World Food Day and India Food Network Hindi. In the past, Pallavi has written recipe columns for numerous newspapers and magazines, both online in print, in India and Oman.

At D/code 2020, she collaborated with Miti Jhunjhunwala of MJ Label to curate a special high tea menu of delicate finger foods and luscious tea cakes for prominent members of the design community. H&DT

At D/code, the exchange of ideas is inevitable. It's a platform to build fruitful partnerships, foster creativity and above all, bring the community together to challenge design norms. The Power Talks are an engaging set of interactions by the fraternity, for the fraternity. At D/code 2020, conversations swung from art in architecture to hospitality design, but the focus remained on giving Indian design a more practical, sustainable and mindful future.

DAY 1

THE URBAN DECADE – HOW LIVING IN A METROPOLIS HAS EVOLVED IN THE 2010s

A one-on-one discussion between two of Mumbai's most pathbreaking architects, Shimul Javeri Kadri and Abha Narain Lambah, this talk covered the evolution of the bustling metropolis of Mumbai over the last decade. Besides an insight into their own work within the city, the panellists also highlighted the hits and misses in the city's architecture, prominent landmarks and the best way to plan and build better cities of the future.

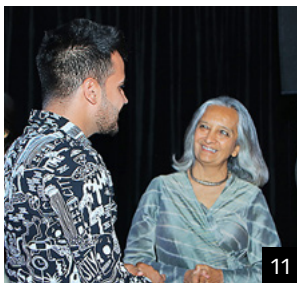

IS ARCHITECTURE THE NEW ART FORM?

Moderated by Iram Sultan, with panellists Anand Menon, Arzan Khambatta and Rajeev Thakker, this panel tread the fine line between art and architecture. The panellists, all architects and artists with different mediums of expression, discussed the use of architecture as a form of art, as well as the use of pure art as a supplement to architecture.

THE ENDGAME OF ARCHITECTURE: CONTEXT, PRACTICALITY AND STRUCTURE

This set of panellists formed the jury for the TRENDS Awards this year, comprising Alan Abraham, Nandini Somaya Sampat, Samuel Barclay (not in attendance), Seema Puri, Shabnam Gupta and Zarir Mullan. Moderated by Editor in Chief of Home & Design TRENDS, Ronitaa Italia, this panel covered the elements of building with practicality in the contemporary context.

DAY 2

LUXURY IN CONTEMPORARY DESIGN

The ever-elusive architect Nozer Wadia had a power packed session on what we, as people, architects and homeowners, consider luxury in design. He covered varied interpretations of luxury, from plant-filled courtyards to plush upholstery, by way of never-before-seen projects.

INDIA MODERN: OUR CONTEMPORARY DESIGN IDENTITY

Led by Annkur Khosla, this panel with Husna Rahaman, Iram Sultan, Rajiv Parekh and Zubin Master addressed the question – What is India's contemporary design identity? They touched upon its interpretation, representation and reinvention in the modern world, as well as the possibilities of a handmade take on design.

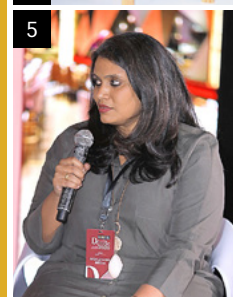

PRODUCT DESIGN IN MODERN INDIAN HOMES

A range of opinions came to the fore during this talk with designers Huzefa Rangwala, Jasem Pirani, Radeesh Shetty and Zahabia Abid, with Fenny Ganatra as moderator. They discussed the furniture needs of evolving Indian homes, and the most efficient and effective design ideas for pieces of daily use.

EASY HOSPITALITY: AT LEISURE

Editor of Home & Design TRENDS Seema Sreedharan brought architects Minnie Bhatt, Satyajee Patwardhan and Sumesh Menon together for this panel on the experiential quality of restaurants, bars and leisure spaces in the country. They broached the subject of the ever-changing restaurant landscape, as well as the elements of timeless restaurant designs.

EMERY STUDIO

Housing some iconic French lighting, tableware and home decor brands, Emery Studio is the one-stop-shop for luxury decoration brands in India

Emercy Studio specializes in bespoke decorative lighting, tableware and home decoration solutions for interior designers and architects and exclusively represents some of the finest international designer lighting, tableware and home decoration brands in India. Following brands under the Emery umbrella are the ultimate symbols of French luxury.

Saint-Louis was inceptioned as Münzthal Glassworks in 1586 in France. After it was given a royal seal of approval by King Louis XV in 1767, it has become a permanent fixture in elite dining rooms around the world.

Since 1878, legendary glassmaker Daum has kept alive a relationship with the greatest artists of its time.

French glassmaking atelier Lalique is known for its luxury products including jewellery, lighting fixtures, furniture, perfumes and objets d'art.

For nearly two centuries, Paris-based Christofle has manufactured fine silver flatware and home accessories such as silver picture frames, crystal vases and glassware.

Incorporating distinctive precious materials L'Objet combines unexpected elements and textures to create expressive, luxurious tableware and elegant home decor.

JAIPUR RUGS

One of the largest manufacturers of handmade rugs, Jaipur Rugs is a global supply chain for retailers and an award-winning socially responsible foundation

Jaipur Rugs is a social business that connects rural craftsmanship with global markets through its luxurious handmade carpets. It is a family business based out of Jaipur that offers an exclusive range of hand-knotted and hand-woven rugs made using 2500 years old traditional art form.

The founder, Mr. Nand Kishore Chaudhary created a unique business model, which provides livelihood to the artisans at their doorstep. This changed the standard practice of involving middlemen to work with artisanal communities. The company currently has a network of over 40,000 artisans spread across 600 rural Indian villages in five states of India. It has an end-to-end business model, right from sourcing of wool to exporting a finished handmade rug.

Reviving the dying art of carpet weaving and creating a sense of bonding and community is at the core of the company's business philosophy. Jaipur Rugs has been working towards bridging the gap between the weaver at the grassroots and the urban consumers.

The modern and eclectic collection of rugs, made using the finest wool and silk, has won numerous global awards and is currently exported to more than 60 countries with the US sales arm, Jaipur Living, Inc. located in Atlanta, Georgia.

THE CARPET CELLAR

Home to the finest woven masterpieces in India, The Carpet Cellar is a specialist gallery that puts the art of weaving at the forefront

Hand weaving is one of India's most treasured ancient arts, and carpet and rug company The Carpet Cellar understands this better than any other brand. With over four decades of experience in the industry, under the expertise of India's respected curator of carpets Sheel Chandra, The Carpet Cellar is a one-stop-shop for beautiful woven treasures like rugs, carpets, shawls, kilims, durries and textiles.

The variety of styles and designs covers the length and breadth of the globe and includes recreations as well as modern designs from Tibet, Turkey, Mesopotamia, Persia, Afghanistan, Baluchistan, India, Egypt and Morocco, all of which are known for their rich artisanal carpet making history. The family behind The Carpet Cellar, the Chandras, are industry experts and are committed to procuring the finest raw materials, facilities and training artisans to create unique pieces.

Their carpets, which are found in some of the world's most prominent homes as well as popular museum exhibitions, are treated as works of art. Consequently, their services to their customers go beyond just selling carpets, to carpet cleaning and care and design advice. The company is a rare representation of the art of oriental weaving at its best and has the largest collection of its kind in India.

P3 ARCHITECTURAL SOLUTIONS

P3 Architectural Solutions offers highly customisable solutions for interiors with its covetable collection of glamorous European brands

The world around us is gradually changing and this change is largely due to technology. Today, being tech savvy is not a choice but a necessity. Now is the time for tailor-made solutions. This is where P3 Architectural Solutions comes into the picture. JURY MEET

THE TIMES OF INDIA, MUMBAI
JANUARY 29, 2020

Snapshots from the selection process of the winners of the 7th edition of the TRENDS Excellence Awards

(Top) The jury meet in progress
(Middle) Seema Puri, Zarir Mullan and Shabnam Gupta
(Bottom) Samuel Barclay, Nandini Somaya Sampat, Alan Abraham and Ronitaa Italia

Identifying

the winning projects and practices of the TRENDS Awards is always an exacting process, and this year was no different. The jury comprising Alan Abraham of Abraham John Architects, Nandini Somaya Sampat of Somaya and Kalappa Consultants, Shabnam Gupta of The Orange Lane, Samuel Barclay of Case Design, Seema Puri and Zarir Mullan of SEZA, and Home & Design TRENDS Editor in Chief Ronitaa Italia put their elbow to the grease to shortlist some of India's best architecture and design projects from over 3,500 entries across India.

The jury mulled over the specs, layouts and plans across the categories of architecture, interior design, product design and visual design. As with every year, the jury adopted a transparent process, with each member bringing a unique set of sensibilities to the table.

Settling on a winner involves a thorough analysis of each entry, regarding the intricate nuances and finer details of design, besides its environmental, functional and aesthetic impact. This made the selection process contemplative and trying for the jury, who after passionate debates and rounds of discussions, came to a unanimous decision, picking a total of 79 nominations and 25 winners. H&DT

THE CMC TROPHY

Understanding the concept behind the six exclusive trophies by Classic Marble Company for the winners of the TRENDS Awards 2019

TRENDS

Awards annually celebrates the best in design and architecture. So, it's only befitting that we honour our winners with a thoughtful, bespoke award that celebrates their hard work and creativity. This year, six of the 18 trophies awarded were crafted exclusively by sponsor Classic Marble Company.

The awards for Best Practice of the Year to Mangesh Lungare; Architecture – Best Concept for an Unbuilt Project to vir.mueller architects; Interior Design – Retail Project of the Year to Studio Nishita Kamdar; Interior Design – Public/Institutional Project of the Year to Usine Studio; Product Design – Light Design of the Year to Vaidehi Lilladhar Thakkar and Nir Meiri; and Product Design – Accessory Design of the Year to Studio Gritt, stood apart from the unique 3D printed trophy that has been a signature TRENDS Awards mainstay since its inception.

Designed by Drishti Architects and Interior Designers and executed by Classic Marble Company, these trophies represent 'folded hands' – a symbol of faith that believes in oneness of mind and mitt. It is an expression of respect, humility and unity, the essential qualities of every human interaction. The trophy was crafted from Classic

Marble Company's signature stone, a material that has beautifully evolved over time. It has a sense of permanence and origin, symbolizes elegance and fervour, and thus became the perfect material for this gesture of appreciation.

The concept for the trophy was put together by Sunil Gambani, founder and principal architect of Drishti Architects. The multi-disciplinary firm is known for simple and pragmatic buildings and interiors that go beyond standard parameters to stay abreast with the ever-evolving design environment.

VIR.MUELLER ARCHITECTS (IN COLLABORATION WITH THOMAS
PHIFER AND PARTNERS) –
KIRAN NADAR MUSEUM OF ART

Project Description:

The design concept of the Kiran Nadar Museum of Art is to expand the cultural, social and intellectual life of the city, and the country. It represents of a platform that encourages art exchanges, by being Indian in spirit and contemporary in design. The brick-red concrete structure has a lush ground floor plaza with all the primary social functions, and is surrounded by multiple entrances for wider connectivity. From an ecological standpoint, the building has a green roof deck, cascading green garden and multiple small green pockets throughout the building.

"Pigmented red concrete flows and folds, creating a sinuous vessel for the display of art and a welcome refuge for visitors."

— Christine Mueller, Founding Principal, vir.mueller.architects

Firm Profile:

Award-winning architecture firm vir.mueller architects was established in 2003 by Christine Mueller and Pankaj Vir Gupta, both with vast academic and professional experience in the United States, Europe and India. The firm runs out of New Delhi on projects around the country, like Humayun's Tomb Site Museum for the Aga Khan Trust for Culture, Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Education for Peace and Sustainable Development for UNESCO, and the Institute of Information and Communication Technology for Ahmedabad University. The firm emphasizes on the integrity of material and craftsmanship to build timeless aesthetic relationships.

NIVEDITAA GUPTA – COURT HOUSE

Photo Description:

The photograph was taken inside a residential project by Chennai-based MOAD Architects. The description of the project – that it is a spatial void with memories embedded in its exterior and interior – resonated with Gupta, and this frame represents a fragment of the home's living history. The presence of a man in the picture, and the way the light hits him, emphasises the architectural quality of the space.

Photographer Profile:

A graduate of the Sushant School of Architecture and Instituto Europe de Designo, Niveditaa Gupta is a New Delhi-based architect and photographer. Her two professions collide in that she believes in representing spaces from an artistic perspective. She has assisted photographer Javier Callejas and artist Nicolas Combarro in Spain, and is currently experimenting with videography and photo-collages.

"As a representation of a fragment of the whole house, the photo allows room to imagine what the rest of it might look and feel like."

— Niveditaa Gupta

PURNESH DEV NIKHANJ – MINIMALISTIC CALM

Photo Description:

The space that the photographer was presented with has three planes, an ellipse, and a strong play of light with harsh reflections due to a glass wall. Nikhanj captured the purist geometry and stillness of space by manually covering the façade openings and light wells to block the extra light. He added a human element to the frame to depict exactly how serene and still it really was.

Photographer Profile:

Purnesh Dev Nikhanj is an award-winning photographer, architect, screenwriter and mixed-media artist based in Chandigarh. A graduate of the Chandigarh College of Architecture, he has a keen eye for architecture and landscape photography, and often experiments with illusions, patterns, and abstract perspectives for storytelling.

"I was fascinated by the minimalism of the space and how, with just a few strokes, a calm space could be created. I admired how light interacted with it and gave it a meditative quality, and tried to freeze it in this frame."

— Purnesh Dev Nikhanj
